Subject: Analysis of Use of Force Report for 2006
Re: CALEA standard 1.3.13

The New Bern Police Department is required by CALEA standards to prepare an annual assessment of reported use of force incidents to identify training needs with respect to the use of force. Therefore this report is submitted to document this assessment.

Analysis:

During 2006 a total of 64 use of force reports were filed by the officers. This represents a 20.9% decrease in the total number of use of force reports filed in 2006. When compared to the total number of calls for service (54,431) in 2006, force was a factor in .12 % of the total calls for service during 2006. When you compare the total number of use of force reports (64) to the total number of arrest (3,068) force was a factor in 2.1% of the total number of arrest in 2006.

The following table shows the number of incidents reported by type of force.

Type	Number	Percentage of Total
OC Spray	15	23.4 %
Impact Weapons	0	0.0 %
Physical Control	32	50.0 %
Pointed Firearm	17	26.6 %
Takedown	0	0.0 %
Other	0	0.0 %
Shooting	0	0.0 %

Assessment:

The low percentage of reported incidents in comparison to the total number of arrest and calls for service indicate that the officers are relying on their training and communication skills rather than an application of force to resolve encounters. Statistical analysis of the use of force reports shows that officers are generally making sound decisions with respect to the departments policies and philosophy concerning use of force response options. This is evidenced by the fact that 50 % of reported incidents were resolved by physical control (soft hand) and another 23.4 % by the use of OC. Both of these options are at the lower end of the use of force continuum.

Recommendations:

This assessment did not reveal any significant areas of concern for the department in the area of use of force or our current training outline as it pertains to the use of force. As long as the training section continues to provide the quality of in service training in the area of use of force and firearms then we should not expect to see an increase in this area.
